DWI EXPUNGEMENT?

There is a provision of the law that many people are not aware of. There is, in fact, a way to get old DWI cases off of your record. It does not apply to everyone, and it does require a hearing. If a person has pleaded guilty or has been convicted for a first alcohol-related driving offense, in many circumstances that person may apply for an order to expunge all information about the arrest, plea, trial and/or conviction.

There are some restrictions. First off, all ten years must have passed since the conviction. The conviction cannot have been for driving a commercial vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. The person applying for expungement cannot have been convicted of any other alcohol-related driving offense. If the court does grant the order of expungement, the records and files maintained by any administrative or court proceeding in an associate or circuit division of the Circuit Court shall be confidential and only available to the parties or by order of the court for good cause shown. The effect of the order shall be to restore the person to the status he or she occupied prior to the arrest, plea or conviction and as if such event had never taken place.

If you think this law applies to you please contact me, and I will be glad to discuss it with you further. If it does apply, we can get your record expunged.

PERSONAL INJURY CASES...

"Criminal, DWI and Traffic cases are not all that I do. People who watch the news or read the paper hear more about those cases than others I handle.

For more than 35 years I have handled accident and injury cases for many people. These cases include automobile accidents, medical malpractice, defect or dangerous products and workers compensation cases.

Injured people have come to me because they can trust that I will handle their case with the skill and knowledge to get them the best settlement possible. I have won many large verdicts for my clients when their case have to be tried.

A serious injury is a tragedy. It is important to get a good lawyer on your side right away. If a friend or family member is ever so unfortunate to suffer an injury, please call me at once."
